

SEEDS OF TYRANNY:

child abuse and neglect:

strategic social engineering, collateral damage

: the experience and evidence of indigenous children

or

Normative bias,

Structural causes,

Dynamic schema,

Costs,

Fallout &

Payoff

of systemic violence against children

or

WHY, HOW, IN WHICH WAYS,

FOR WHAT & WHOSE

BENEFIT

societies and people think violence against children is OK, even necessary...

and make sure it goes on...
for everybody's good...

“Violence against A child”
is to “Violence Against Children”
as “circumstantial” is to “regulated”

case studies: strategized-institutionalized violence in “normal” learning & nurturing environments

SEEDS OF TYRANNY: : the experience and evidence of indigenous children

Anna Pinto

Centre for Organisation Research and Education

Beneficiaries,
the exempt and
?!Targets:
who get hurt
who don't

Designs patterns modes: responses to changing political economies

Ways and means:

exclusion

integration & identity building

self policing, the ultimate aim in the process

Profit and Loss:

Comparative costing:

violence

non-violence

peace

Who will and will not profit?

What kind of world do we want?

What are we willing to pay for it and who's willing?

Is non-violence the same as peace?

Of course not.

One is a personal way of life,
the other is a social environment.

What we probably need and are looking for is both.

Which probably means that we each have to change a whole lot about ourselves and a whole lot more about the way we are as a group

So are we going to do this or what?

khuramjari
thank you for your attention

SEEDS OF TYRANNY: the experience and evidence of indigenous children
Anna Pinto
Centre for Organisation Research and Education